An aspiring filmmaker since I held my first video camera at the age of 12, I am currently in post production for my first major producer role on a web series as well as a 1st AD on a short series called "Abracadavers". On my off time I enjoy working day calls on TV shows as a production assistant and working art department on commercials. In my free time I run a successful live variety talk-show which includes, but is hardly limited to writing, directing, organizing, filming and editing 1-3 short films per episode. In my down time I curate an annual film festival...and that's just March. Here is some of her other projects I've done:
